

Childrens' musical toys and instruments

*Music is fun!
And it promotes motor skills, as well
as social competence.
This is especially important for our social interaction in these times!*

Voggenreiter – Music that helps children grow. For over 100 years!

Children discover the world with all their senses – and music accompanies them in a very special way. It stimulates their imagination, fosters their development, and brings joy. This is precisely what Voggenreiter has stood for for over a century: as a brand for aspiring musicians–from their very first note to far beyond.

As a modern family business, we develop a thoughtfully designed education program that supports children in every stage of their development. Our products invite children to experiment, participate, and make music together – without any pressure to perform, but with all the more enthusiasm.

For children, music is much more than just a game:

It strengthens concentration and language development, promotes motor skills and a sense of rhythm, and supports social skills such as listening, consideration, and shared experiences. Through making music, children learn to express themselves, develop self-confidence, and be part of a group.

Our textbooks, proven for decades, are recognized standard works in music education. These are complemented by a diverse range of musical toys and child-friendly instruments – specially designed for small hands and a great thirst for discovery. From the first glockenspiel to the beginner instrument, we accompany children step by step on their musical journey.

The joy of making music is our top priority!

Children who learn with joy remain curious and motivated. That's why we place the utmost importance on high-quality materials, safe handling, and a warm, clear sound that delights children.

Our musical toys and instruments impress with:

- Child-friendly, excellent sound quality
- Highest product safety
- Ergonomic design for small hands
- Simple, intuitive handling

Music makes you smart. Music is fun. Music makes you happy.

With Voggenreiter, children enjoy a playful and enriching introduction to the fascinating world of sounds, rhythms, and shared experiences.

We wish all children – and those who accompany them – much joy in discovering, playing, and making music.
